Discover a New Paradigm in Health & Wellness

Healthcare on the leading edge...

Welcome to the Bioenergetic Wellness System

Every living system—including the human body—relies on energy and information to function properly. Just as a computer needs power and accurate data to operate, our bodies depend on a well-regulated flow of energy and information to maintain health.

The E4L Bioenergetic Wellness System, backed by over 30 years of research, assesses and optimizes the human body-field—an intricate network of energy and information that acts as the master control system for all physiological functions. Distortions or blockages in this field are often the root causes of fatigue, pain, and illness.

Using advanced scanning technology, miHealth biofeedback therapy, and proprietary Infoceticals, the system helps correct these imbalances, restoring harmony and activating the body's natural healing abilities. This non-invasive, holistic approach empowers the body to return to optimal function—safely and effectively.

Step 1: Assess with Advanced Scanning Technology

The E4L Bioenergetic Wellness System begins with a fast, non-invasive scan of your body-field—the energy and information blueprint that governs your health. Using a simple voice or hand scan, it evaluates hundreds of wellness markers in seconds, revealing distortions linked to physical and emotional issues.

It provides a detailed snapshot of your energy levels, emotional stressors, environmental influences, and nutritional challenges—helping uncover root causes and guiding your practitioner toward personalized wellness strategies.

Step 2: Reimprint with Infoceticals

Once distortions in your body-field are identified, the next step is to correct them using E4L Infoceticals—liquid remedies infused with proprietary bio-information. They resonate with the body-field to restore optimal communication and support the body's natural healing process.

Safe and easy to use, Infoceticals are taken daily by adding a few drops to water.

Step 3: Rejuvenate with miHealth

The final step uses the E4L miHealth device—a compact, non-invasive PEMF and biofeedback device used either on the skin or off-body to help release energy blockages and retrain the body toward healthier patterns. It is effective for reducing stress, optimizing energy flow, relaxing and retraining muscles, nerves, plus other organs & supporting overall wellness.

A Unified Bioenergetic Therapy

At Juneva Health, we elevate the scalar field approach through our groundbreaking BioScalar InfusionSM therapy, a proprietary treatment that simultaneously delivers corrective holographic information from E4L Infoceticals, global scaling frequencies and information from the E4L miHealth device, as well as Rife frequencies, PEMF, and imprinted therapeutic music—all in one integrated session. This unique synergy supports deep energetic rejuvenation and healing at the cellular and DNA level.
