Meet the miHealth

Powerful, Compact & Multifaceted Tool to Promote Energy Flow and Wellbeing

What is miHealth?

miHealth is a powerful hand-held, non-invasive, biofeedback device. It is effective for reducing stress, optimizing energy flow, relaxing and retraining muscles, nerves, plus other organs and supporting overall wellness.

21st Century Solution to Optimal Wellness

Surpassing other biofeedback devices, miHealth measures through both skin impedance and exclusive pulse assessment technology. It provides immediate support from our proprietary information-based therapy together with these technologies:

PEMF provides subtle yet powerful support in both on body and off body use.

SCENAR enhanced with PBM (photobiomodulation) adjusts in real time to the body's needs for quick benefits.

Pulse assessments inspired by TCM show balancing needed in the 5 elements, and the miHealth supports this balance.

Skin impedance readings give instant feedback on areas needing the most energetic support.

Built-in electrodes and optional expansion with external electrodes offer great flexibility.

miHealth Benefits

These combined, superior technologies create one powerful, multifaceted device, with benefits that include:

- Faster recovery after physical activity
- Help with joint mobility
- Sleep pattern support
- Mental and emotional wellbeing
- Increased energy
- Feelings of relaxation

What to Expect from a miHealth Session

During a Session:

The miHealth is either stroked across the skin or used off body in "broadcast" mode. When used on body, you might experience a tingling sensation that can be relaxing or even uplifting.

Post Session:

Expect to finish a miHealth session feeling relaxed, rejuvenated, and feeling better overall.
